A code of business conduct, also called a code of ethics, is a statement of an organization's values and standards of proper behavior that coincides with those values. It is a written set of guidelines that outline a set of principles affecting decision making. When faced with ethical dilemmas, what is articulated in the code enables employees to handle them properly. Universal compliance is expected of every member of an organization.

Exercises:

A. Provide the meaning of the phrases below:
   1. Ethical dilemmas
   2. Universal compliance

B. Answer the following concisely:
   1. Why is it necessary to adhere to a code of business conduct?
   2. Why must all members of a business organization abide by the code because they understand its significance, and not just follow it for the sake of compliance?
   3. What is the meaning of the quote "When the cat is away, the mice will play"? Relate this to your answer in question #2.
